

1. VILLA LARIO'S HIDDEN PALAZZO

Villa Lario, the 19th Century former home of the Lombardi family will re-open this Spring with a newly renovated Palazzo within its grounds.

Situated directly on the shores of Lake Como, the Palazzo opens its doors to the hotel's private jetty and Riva boats. The 18 suites are spread across two acres of private gardens retaining the hotel's immensely private setting, celebrated for its submerged positioning. The classic Italian architectural frame has been contrasted with a clean, new-fashioned, structural design - a refreshing departure from traditional ornate features synonymous with hotels on the lake. No gild in sight!

2. ON THE MARQUE

In today's connected world, everyone has a digital profile: from the unicorn entrepreneur to the teenage babysitter. With the growth of search engine content, the rise of 'fake news' online and the consequences of Covid-19 on remote working, the importance of managing a digital persona with accurate, engaging and well-presented information has never been greater.

The Marque is an invitation-only, digital, profile management platform for leaders in their field. Already a trusted digital partner to some of the world's most profiled personalities, The Marque allows users to take control of their 'digital twin'.

3. TOAST MADE TO ORDER

Scott Ideas has been working with TOAST Stateside for two years; we're now absolutely delighted to also be representing them in the UK. Their ethos and dedication to people and planet is something we feel proud to be sharing, exemplified in the launch of 'Made To Order' - a new collection designed to meet actual demand with the aim of significantly reducing surplus.

Already underway in their environmental and ethical commitment, TOAST has reduced the size of its 2021 collections with a further reduction to three seasonal drops by 2022. The initial launch is an edit of TOAST's hero pieces: an Ikat jacket, house-dress and trouser along with two accessories.

ANNOUNCING THE ARRIVAL OF...

Lioness Oudrika, has given birth to two beautiful cubs this month at Port Lympe Hotel & Reserve. To celebrate their arrival, the keeper team has set up a live 'cub cam' so you can watch them as they find their way in the world. Watching this new family bond is the perfect antidote to the current news agenda and a pure source of calming comfort and joy. Lion Dad, Adras is a Barbary Lion - of which, devastatingly, there are none left in the wild.

For those wishing to get just a little bit closer to the cubs, you can now buy them lunch through The Aspinnall Foundation website.

Ideas we're into (but sadly aren't ours..)

TAKE THAT!

We've all spent long enough unwrapping veggies from needless packaging. A suggestion from the film 'Plastic Ocean' is to unwrap any grocery foods unnecessarily wrapped in plastic and hand the plastics back to the Manager of the Supermarket until they get the message. We tried it in the local supermarket and the Manager thought it was a fair point. There's strength in numbers...

PRESERVING THE PAST

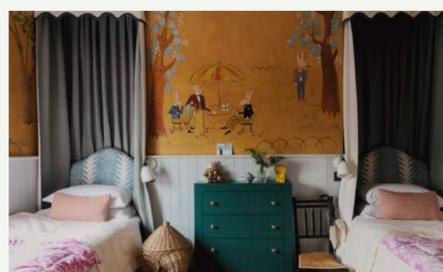

We're already big fans of the The Modern House and have whiled away many hours dreaming of our next home. Now, founders Albert and Matt, have embarked on their next mission, Inigo; the same contemporary estate agent concept but celebrating Britain's most marvellous historic homes, rather than new.

They aspire to unlock the true value of every cottage, coach house and conversion with their renowned and inimitable storytelling.

2020 DESIGN OF THE YEAR

A collection of pink seesaws intersecting the US / Mexico border wall has been named the 2020 Design of the Year. Created with the intention to inspire communities to build bridges, not walls, and encourage togetherness, the design has been hailed as a representation of 'the possibility of things'.

With Biden beginning the rollback on the border wall, we're hopeful for plenty of seesawing to come.
